EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A country's demographic dividend has essentially been its youth. Pakistan has one of the world's greatest proportions of young people, with 32% of the population aged 15 to 24 years old (Pakistan Bureau of Statistics, 2019-20). Over the last decade, a paradigm shift in global dynamics has expedited global technological acceleration and rapid industrialization, resulting in a substantial scope for skill-building in employable domains to support the corresponding requirement for bright and technically adept human capital. To thoroughly benefit on this opportunity, Pakistan's youth must be equipped with marketable skills that will contribute in the development of the country in a variety of ways.

The directive of the Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Youth Development Program [BBSYDP], which was launched by the Government of Sindh in 2008, has been passed on to the Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research & Development Board [BBSHRRDB] as a matter of legislative commitment to preserve and safeguard public interest. The Sindh Act of Assembly constituted the Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research & Development Board [BBSHRRDB] in 2013 as a public service project to enhance Sindh's human resource by providing youth with employable skill sets that will increase their employment opportunities.

The analysis under consideration was carried out at Fisheries Wing, Fisheries & Livestock Department, with its PMU at Hyderabad. The Sindh Fisheries Department was established in 1969-70, and it was placed under the control of the Director, Agriculture Sindh, with a technical head as Assistant Director Fisheries on a provincial basis, with his headquarters in Hyderabad. Agriculture Development Corporation was dissolved in 1972, and all of its officers were asked to return to their parent departments. Director Fisheries Sindh was established in 1974, with its headquarters in Karachi. By re-designating the office of Project Director Hyderabad, the Department of Fisheries has been divided into two divisions, one Inland Section, headed by Director Fisheries Sindh (Inland) Hyderabad, and the other Research & Development at Karachi, as per the directives of Pakistan's Chief Executive.

BBSHRRDB has trained 298,000 young people throughout 95 sectors, transforming them into economic assets for the province. The BBSHRRDB takes pride in implementing standardized skill development training to ensure that men and women have equal opportunities. This plan will be extremely advantageous to human resource development. A third-party validation assignment has been assigned to the consultants in order to verify the program's efficiency and execution.

The consultant analyzed information from over 4,000 students in a representative sample of training programs across all program components. The study's findings suggest that the program was successful in engaging and supporting disadvantaged and underprivileged youth. Field visits were also used to check the students, and none of the youths reached during the survey were found to be untrue. The stipends were distributed in accordance with standard procedures during the trainings.

Students' comments to various areas of the training programme show that they are very satisfied with it. Students perceive the training programme as a great assistance in their academic careers, according to the responses. More than 95% of students believed that the training selection, instructor, and selection criteria were fair and unambiguous across all training centers.

1. INTRODUCTION

Employment is a comprehensive term that encompasses both formal and informal employment. Entrepreneurship training is widely applied in Technical & Vocational Education and Training (TVET) programs to encourage self-employment. This is associated with occupational and vocational activities social perpetuation and transformation. Employees must maintain their knowledge and expertise fully updated due to the rapid evolution of technology. Unlike in the past, when a job could be maintained for a lifetime, it is now customary to switch jobs multiple times. TVET facilitates mobility in two ways. One is to have a diverse set of technical skills and transferrable abilities that may be applied to a variety of vocations. The second step is to provide professionals with ongoing vocational training.

In acknowledgement of this reality, a youth skills development training project was initiated at Fisheries Wing, Livestock & Fisheries Department with the aim of providing youth with employable skills. The BBSHRRDB, Government of Sindh, supported the project, which included the training of 4,000+ graduated trainees.

1.1. Objectives of the assignment

The overall objectives of the assignment are as following;

S. No.	Objective	Detail
1	Validation of Tutors	Evaluating and assessing the trainers' credentials and experience.
2	Validation of Curriculum	Evaluating and validating the curriculum in conformity with the prescribed syllabus.
3	Validation of Training Delivery	Assessing and verifying the trainees' training delivery in accordance with the MoU.
4	Validation of Training Completion	Assessing and verifying the training completion for instance duration of the training, attendance, the number of graduated trainees, distribution of certificates.
5	Validation of Certification	Checking and verifying the Institute's affiliation.
6	Validation of at least 40% Employment	Determining whether or not 40 percent of the graduates in this programme are employed (self or wage employment).

1.2. Scope of Work

The scope of work is outlined in the grid below.,

Particulars	Details
Enrolments (Trainees)	4,225
Targeted Gender	Male, Female
Institute	Fisheries Department working under Government of Sindh

2.METHODOLOGY

Every study follows a specific research methodology to attain a set of objectives in order to test the hypothesis and answer the research questions. The quality of data collected from respondents is mostly indicative of the respondents, and the technique of the study is responsible for the findings' conclusion. The methodology includes data collection methods, essential metrics evaluated, population, sample size, and establishing appropriate analytical tests, as well as other data processing tools and outcomes interpretation. The following section describes the methodologies used in the current study.

2.1. Population, Sample Size and Reliability of Data

Master trainers, assistant trainers, and trainees were primarily included in this study. Because they were principally involved and engaged in the project, all of these stakeholders' comments were critical for the current study. In any study, determining sample size is an important part of the research design. Prior to data collection, the required sample size would have to be estimated to assure data reliability. The current study was a factfinding in nature, necessitating the computation of frequencies and the arithmetic mean of their most recent training project experience. In order to establish the reliability of the data and the credibility of the study, the entire population of master trainers, assistant trainers, and trainees was used to collect data. Data reliability was not an issue in this analysis because the entire population (100% population) was assessed rather than just a subset of it.

The response rate is shown in the grid below,

Stakeholder	Population	Responses Obtained	Response percentage
Master Trainers	23	23	100%
Assistant Trainers	18	18	100%
Trainees	4,225	4,220	99.8%
Total	4,266	4,261	99.93%

2.2. Methodology for statistical modelling and analysis

Structured questionnaires and semi-structured interviews have been used to collect data in this study. The questionnaire was used to collect data during the quantitative phase, while the interview schedule was employed to collect data during the qualitative phase. The questionnaire schedule was developed based on the issues highlighted in the related data literature review that were relevant to the current study. The interview schedule was devised in response to the primary issues identified by the questionnaire results. The quantitative survey results were evaluated using Microsoft Excel. The software was used to compute the mean, standard deviation, and frequency scores. Thematic analysis was used to examine the qualitative data. To determine the internal consistency of the questionnaires, the 'Cronbach Alpha' was used.

3.OBJECTIVE-WISE VALIDATION

3.1. Assessment of Trainers and Assistant Trainers

In the first step of assessment, the trainers and assistant trainers of this program were met individually by the visiting team. The trainers and assistant trainers were found perfectly proficient in their respective trades and had enough knowledge to deliver to the trainees. The trainees were inquired if they were satisfied with their respective trainers and assistant trainers in the second step. The trainees were fairly impressed with the training faculty and wished to one day accomplish their knowledge level.

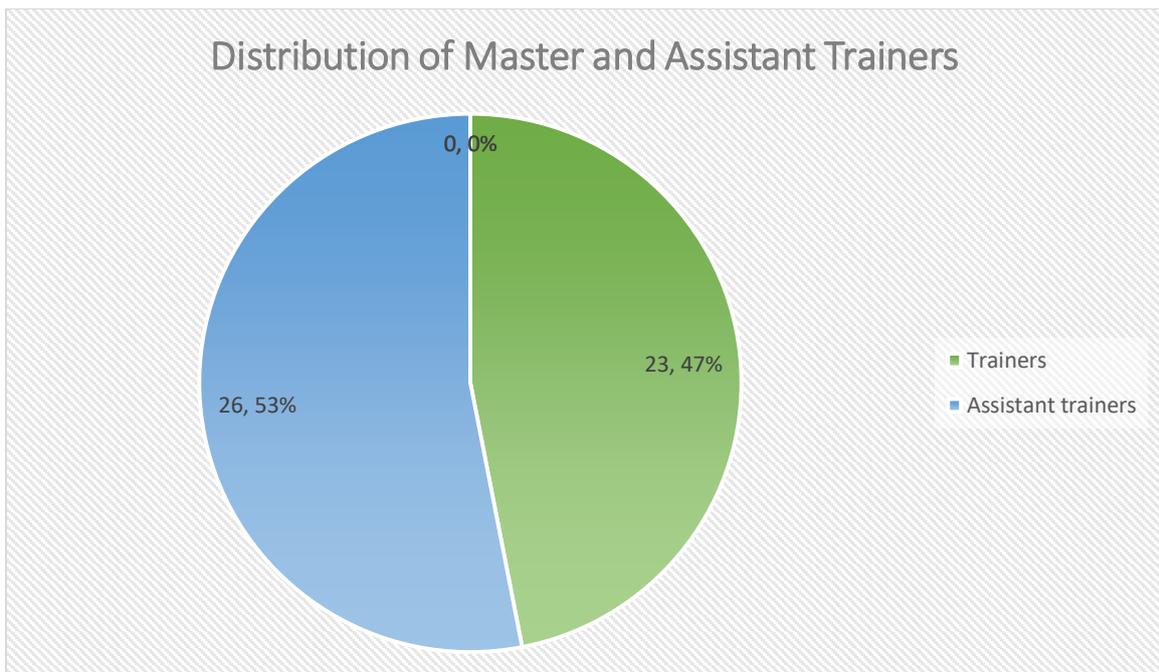

Flowing is the table of the trainers and assistant trainers that were met by the visiting consultants,

S. No.	Name	Designation	Qualification

S. No.	Education	Numbers
1	Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D)	02
2	Master of Philosophy (MPhil)	11
3	Master of Science (MSc)	07
4	Bachelor of Science (BS)	29

The following graph depicts the academic status of master and assistant trainers;

The total numbers in the light of the survey were 49 trainers, which is in accordance with the mandate mentioned in the MoU. 02 master trainers were found to be PhDs in their domain, 11 were M-Phil, 07 MScs and almost the entire trainer and assistant trainers were BSc qualified. The trainers and assistant trainers were determined to be highly qualified and competent in their respective fields.

3.2. Assessment of curriculum taught

Curriculum refers to the lessons and academic content taught in an institution or in a specific course or programme. The courses offered by an institution are commonly defined as curriculum in reference books, but it is generally used in institutions in this broad sense. Depending on how broadly instructors interpret the term, curriculum usually refers to the knowledge and skills that trainees are expected to acquire, which includes the learning expectations or learning goals they are expected to achieve, the units and lessons that trainers teach, and the assignments and projects that trainees are given. A curriculum is a set of basic learning ideas, lessons, assignments, and materials used to prepare and teach a specific course. The curriculum that is being taught under this programme has been found to be up to date and meets modern teaching standards. The materials are quite comprehensive, but they are written in such a way that trainees may simply absorb the concepts and use them in their daily lives. The instructors were certain that they could find a decent balance between theory and practice. The majority of the trainees agreed with this remark. The current curriculum is recognized by Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research & Development Board (BBSHRRDB). The courses and their content were very well received by the visiting consultants. The Annex section contains sample books.

3.3. Assessment of training delivery

The consultant's responsibility was to validate the training period, enrollment, and number of graduates, as well as the timely delivery of training certificates. To validate the aforementioned domains, the following queries were created

Lesson Plan(s): When delivering instruction, trainers and assistant trainers believed they had appropriately trained and covered the prepared lesson plans. The management and the majority of the trainees marked these things as true based on their opinions.

Assessment of Trainees: The trainees were assessed by the trainers and assistant trainers in accordance with predetermined evaluation requirements, as well as the management's, trainers and assistant trainers', and trainees' combined opinions. When generating question papers/assessment content, the trainers and assistant trainers followed the evaluation plan provided by the programme.

Invitational Industry and Academic Lectures: The management and trainers observed the arrangement of lectures by renowned guest speakers from industry and academics, and the majority of the trainees agreed with their claim.

3.4. Assessment of training completion

The consultant was required for verifying the training duration, enrollment, and number of graduates, as well as ensuring that training certificates were given on schedule. To validate the supplied domains, the following queries were constructed.

Enrolments and Graduates: The authorities announced the enrolment of 4,225 candidates from two batches for training in their respective sectors, among them 4,225 graduated after completing their course.

Training Duration: According to the Management, trainers, and trainees, the programme had provided training for the requisite predetermined duration by the Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research & Development Board (BBSHRRDB).

Attendance: It was also confirmed that PMU adhered to the predetermined attendance standards during the training and that accurate attendance records were collected.

Examination: Exams were held on time thanks to the efforts of administration, trainers and assistant trainers. This was agreed upon by a large majority of the trainees.

Certificate Distribution: All of the graduates were given their certificates on schedule. The statement was derived from the appropriate data source. While a small percentage of trainees faced a minor delay in certification.

3.5. Assessment of validation of certification

The coordinator, trainers, and trainees validated the affiliation of the programme with the Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research & Development Board (BBSHRRDB)

3.6. Validation of Employment

Job creation is the most crucial part of young skill development programmes. The following is a summary of the current status of the graduate trainees.

Employment assistance for recently graduated trainees: The programme, according to the authorities, enabled trainees in locating acceptable job postings, which the clear majority of trainees confirmed. According to the authorities, the programme supported trainees with job applications and job interview training, which the vast majority of trainees agree with.

Current employment status of graduated trainees: The employment status of the graduated trainees is highly satisfactory 1,489 out of total 4,225 (35.24%) graduated trainees are self-employed. This is the very satisfying statistic that the research team has unearthed 431 out of 4,225 graduated trainees are employed on wage-employed basis (10.2%). On the other hand, 2,305 graduated trainees are currently jobless but are in pursuit of opportunities.

The data is summarized in the following table,

Table: Trainees Employment Status

S. No.	Status	No. of Trainees	Percentage
1	Self employed	1,489	35.24%
2	Wage employed	431	10.20%
3	Unemployed	2,305	54.55%
Total		4,225	100%

The following table shows the distribution of graduate trainees' job status by trade.

S. No.	Trade	Self Employed	Wage Employed	Unemploy ed	Total

4. VALIDATIONS

The triangulation method was used to confirm all of the findings, which included comparing the results acquired from the responses of the management, trainers, and trainees. As a result, it is possible to conclude that all of the program's major requirements were accomplished. The project was assessed to have completed its objectives adequately, based on the following validation points.

4.1. Validation of Trainers

- The trainees were provided access to sufficient and well qualified instructors in their chosen fields.
- The academic/professional level of the trainers was considered in conjunction with the training programme. The trainers were found to be highly educated/capable in their respective domains.
- All of the instructors were confirmed to be highly competent in their disciplines.
- The instructors were very well-received by the graduate trainees.
- It is reasonable to conclude that instructors were appointed on merit, based on the perspectives of educations, perceptions, and feedback of stakeholders.

4.2. Validation of curriculum

- The Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research and Development Board (BBSHRRDB) has validated the curriculum.
- Curriculums were properly provided to instructors to be followed throughout training duration.
- Both the trades and the curriculum are market-oriented. This has led to a substantial increase in graduate students' employment rate.
- Trainers and trainees stated that the programme and curriculum need no improvement at this juncture, but that there is always room for improvement.
- Because of the master trainers' extensive experience, there was a general balance between the theoretical and practical domains.

4.3. Validation of Training Delivery

- In compliance with the MoU, instructors prepared and implemented lesson plans in accordance with the curriculum.
- The evaluation technique was carried out in accordance with the curriculum and in compliance with the stipulated rules.
- Noted Industry and academic guest speakers presented talks during the course.

4.4. Validation of Training Completion

- Trainees were enrolled in accordance with the Memorandum of Understanding, and they all finished their training within the timeframe set by the Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research and Development Board (BBSHRRDB).
- The attendance record is continually updated. Assessments were held on time and in compliance with the MoU.
- Nearly all of the trainees received their certificates on schedule.

4.5. Validation of Certification

- The certification is affiliated with the Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research & Development Board (BBSHRRDB).

4.6. Validation of Employment

- The programme assists trainees in searching for employment openings, fulfilling application processes, and preparing for interviews.
- As a result, there are currently a sufficient number of graduate trainees employed, which matches the validation requirements.

4.7. Team Members assigned for Validation

S. No.	Name	Designation
1	Dr. Ali Zaidi	Consultant/Evaluation Expert
2	Dr. Akif Jokhio	Technical Writing
3	Mr. Muzammil	Data Analyst

5. SUGGESTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The Benazir Bhutto Shaheed Human Resource Research & Development Board [BBSHRRDB] is one of the Government of Sindh's major programmes. The number of trainees who benefited from the programme can be used to assess its effectiveness. The following are some of the most notable features and suggestions of the programme.:

- None of the participants were proven to be fictional via telephone contact or a physical interview. This demonstrates that the real and actual trainees have received the appropriate training.
- Stakeholders must be supported in terms of both number and quality. The smallest error in the office could result in the needy student being rejected. With the support of the competent team, the programme may be more successfully streamlined.
- There are certain concerns with the training programme that must be addressed in order to make it more standardized and beneficial. Because the programme is always evolving, it is challenging to get all stakeholders on the same page. Efforts should be made to standardise training duration, disbursement amounts, and SOP comprehension.
- The training scholarship numbers for each district do not reflect parity. Trainees from disadvantaged areas may have greater financial demands, and their share of scholarships should not be determined exclusively by the district/union council's population.
- Need-based scholarship success stories should be published in local periodic publications, preferably as a supplement, so that the scholarship is visible to the majority of trainees and parents.
- A procedure must be in place to keep trainees informed who are unable to apply for scholarships owing to a lack of essential documentation.
- The programme should be modelled after similar programmes currently in place in the TVET sector, such as the Japanese need-based programme and the USAID need-based programme. Despite the fact that these programmes were hybrid in character, emphasizing both need and merit. However, with careful consideration, these systems may be modified to improve the process.

- The program's dissemination would have to be more thorough and widespread; it would be unwise to only announce the scholarship to already admitted trainees; it is critical to include trainees who, for whatever reason, are unable to take admission and have no source of information about the scholarship. Print media, electronic media, social media, and SMS marketing are all avenues for enhanced exposure that should be pursued.

6. LIMITATIONS AND CHALLENGES

The consultants encountered numerous challenges while conducting this research. Some of these challenges are mentioned below;

- To prevent the COVID-19 pandemic, the government implemented smart and micro lockdowns in select regions, making it difficult to assemble trainees for physical interviews/verification. Due to the fact that a few trainees were afflicted with the COVID virus, they were interviewed over the phone.

Despite the limitations, the management and personnel of the Fisheries Wing, Fisheries and Livestock Department were exceptionally cooperative and supportive in the compilation of this report.
